Airliner With 51 Persons Aboard Down

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A Brazilian airliner with 51 persons aboard, including at least one American, plunged into Guanabara Bay Friday night while approaching Rio de Janeiro. Search teams found parts of bodies and wreckage but no survivors.

The twin-engine Convair, on a 60-mile flight from the new capital of Brasilia with a midway stopover at Belo Horizonte, was listed as missing nearly eight hours.

The crash was confirmed early today when navy search crews found the plane's wreckage floating in the bay off the island of Paqueta, about 10 miles up the bay from Rio's Dumont Airport.

Later the searchers reported finding parts of bodies and pieces of luggage that had floated up on the beach.

Among those listed aboard was Newton B. Thompson, a native of Waterville, Maine, an official of the American Bond and Share Electric Co.

A spokesman for Real Airlines said the passenger list carried other Anglo-Saxon names, including George Pfister, Janet S. Lister and H. V. Lee. This line could not confirm their nationalities or give their addresses.

Thompson's wife told reporters in Rio that her husband had been in Belo Horizonte on business.

Earlier reports had said the plane might be carrying several Brazilian congressmen who often travel from Brasilia for weekends in Rio. It was later learned that only one congressman, Jose Gomes Talarico, had boarded the flight in Brasilia. Arriving at Belo Horizonte he learned the plane would be delayed.

"I had to be in Rio early," he told newsmen later. "I asked if I could transfer my ticket to another airline, leaving sooner. The airline said it could not make the transfer. I bought another ticket and I'm alive tonight."

The airline said pilot Joao Belloc radioed the Santos Dumont Airport tower shortly before 6 p.m. He said he was approaching the landing field at 1,800 feet and was just over Paqueta Island. Then the radio went dead.

One Railway Union Left in Dispute

CHICAGO (AP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers has reached a wage agreement with the nation's railroads, leaving only one operating union still in dispute with the carriers over pay.

The agreement, Thursday, with the 45,000 member brotherhood was patterned after earlier settlements between the railroads and trainmen, engineers and conductors' unions. It calls for a 4 per cent, or 10.108 cents hourly wage boost over 16 months.

A railroad spokesman estimated the new wage increase will cost the carriers 13 million dollars a year.

The Switchmen's Union of North America is the lone operating union still to reach a wage agreement with railroads. The union's 15,000 workers have demanded a 12 per cent hourly pay hike. A presidential fact finding board entered this dispute June 1, 1960.

Also, 11 non-operating unions have not settled with the carriers. These unions number about 550,000 members.

The agreement specified a two per cent wage boost effective July 1, 1960, another effective March 1, 1961. The workers now average $2.59 an hour. The contract runs to Nov. 1, 1961.

The union had asked a 14 per cent wage increase June 15, 1959; the carriers had countered with a proposal for a 15 per cent reduction.

The agreement also calls for a 17-cent hourly cost of living adjustment retroactive to May 1957 and cancellation of the cost of living escalator clause.

Suspends Fine Against a Former Judge

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs today suspended a $500 fine against former County Judge H. C. Warren for official overspending.

Dobbs also signed an order formally removing Warren from office. Warren was suspended several months ago.

A jury earlier this week convicted Warren on a misdemeanor count of violating amendment 10 to the state constitution. The amendment requires government units to live within their annual income.

The state contended Warren incurred a deficit in Garland County spending in 1959.

The jury fixed the fine, but recommended that Dobbs suspend it.

Dobbs overruled a defense motion to set aside the verdict and grant a new trial. Richard Hobbs, Warren's attorney, said an appeal would be taken to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Prosecutor Walter J. Hebert today dropped one of several charges pending against Warren. This one alleged that Warren failed to require itemized statements and other satisfactory proof of claims against the county.

Warren, who took office on Jan. 1, 1959, denied, both at his trial and earlier, that he was guilty of any wrongdoing.

He once filed as a candidate for another term, but dropped out of the race a few hours after his conviction.

Democrats Have GOPs Concerned

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Joint Legislative Audit Committee was told today that a preliminary audit of the Arkansas Civil Defense Agency revealed a $3,580 shortage in funds.

Legislative Auditor Orvel Johnson said the figure might be reduced when the audit is finished.

Johnson said the agency turned in $1,600 worth of credits which it may be entitled to set against the shortage.

The preliminary audit report was accompanied by a letter from state Civil Defense Director Owen Payne Jr. of Conway. He said the handling of receipts and expenditures during 1958 and part of 1959 was "very poor due to lack of personnel and supervision."

Payne's letter said Lee Wilcox of Springdale, who handled billing and collecting in the 1959 portion mentioned, had resigned from the agency Tuesday after completion of the preliminary audit report.

Wilcox was surplus property officer.

"It is my opinion that almost all of the funds will be accounted for in the form of paid invoices for this period of time," Payne wrote.

Graduation for Illinois Prisoners

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—This was college commencement day for three inmates of the Illinois State Penitentiary, the first such scholars in the history of the prison.

Philip G. Gianopoulos, 33; Malcolm H. Matheson, 37; and Ernest Cornes, 29, earned associate in arts degrees from the Chicago City Junior College through its television instructional program.

But graduation day didn't mean a day outside the walls. The college and the warden arranged ceremonies for awarding degrees at the prison.

The three graduates have been students since 1958 as part of an experimental group of 12. Later the program expanded to include 31 students.

Two of the graduates maintained above-average grades in the courses presented over station WTTW in Chicago. The entire group of inmate students achieved a grade average of 2.76 which is equal to a B-minus. One-fourth of all grades for these students was A, higher than normal percentage.

A WTTW spokesman said, "Matheson is serving 49 years for assault and rape, and has been in prison since 1955. Gianopoulos is serving 75 years for armed robbery. He was committed in 1954."

Castro Wants To Wager With Herter

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro says he is willing to make a million-ton wager on Cuban sugar production with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

The bearded Prime Minister made the statement in a TV talk to the Cuban people Friday night—his eighth major speech in 20 days.

It followed a statement by Herter in Washington to the House Agriculture Committee that experts predict Cuba's sugar production will drop at least one million tons soon. Herter added that this is a good time to diversify U.S. sugar supply sources. The committee has been considering giving President Eisenhower authority to cut Cuba's quota of the U.S. market.

Castro said he would be willing to surrender Cuba's share of the sugar market in the United States if his country's production in 1961 drops a million tons—provided the Cuban quota is increased by a million tons if production increases that much. Castro said the American public is "being fooled" on the sugar situation.

"We can sell sugar to the United States at a cheaper price if they want it," the Prime Minister said. "We can contribute to the lowering of the American cost of living."

The United States is still buying about 3½ million tons of sugar from Cuba, more than half the Cuban crop, and to protect U.S. producers is paying a premium of about 2 cents above the world market price. Since Castro's increasing restrictions on American investors in Cuba, there has been growing sentiment in the U.S. Congress for a cut in the sugar quota allotted Cuba and an increase in purchases from other producers whose governments are more friendly to the United States.

Castro reiterated a threat that American investments would be seized in proportion to the amount of Cuban sugar quota reductions.

"We'll exchange Cuban quota cuts for American property seizures," he said. "They cut off all our quota, we'll take all their property."

He also repeated his warning that American and British oil refineries in Cuba are obligated to refine imported crude oil from the Soviet Union, and have only a few more days to make up their minds.

Pledges More Diversified Industry

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Joe C. Hardin pledged today that he would put more emphasis on diversifying Arkansas industry if he won the governor's race.

Hardin conceded that the state's industrialization program of recent years has been "a progressive step forward."

But, he added, "I believe there are a number of steps which can be taken to obtain more satisfactory industrial growth."

In a statement issued at his campaign headquarters here, the Grady planter-businessman said Arkansas needs "a vigorous effort to obtain industries in fields other than those in which we now concentrate."

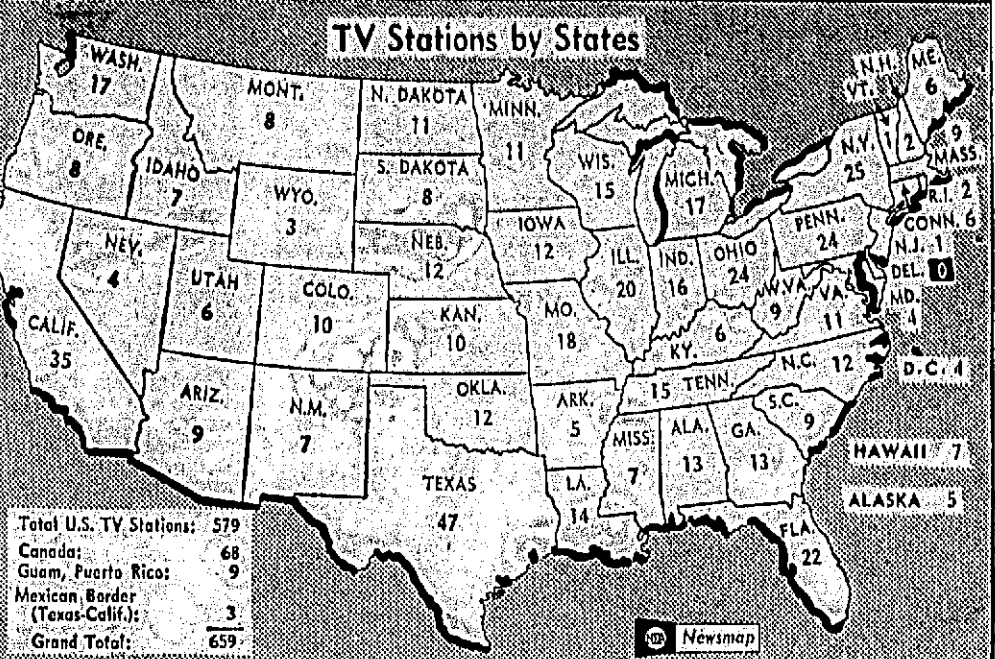

Specifically, he said, the state should obtain more agriculture-related industries to process raw materials produced on farms. He said the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission should try to get such industries.

Hardin tossed a criticism at Gov. Orval F. Faubus, one of his four opponents for governor. He said Arkansas' industrial growth fell off "significantly during the third term of the fourth term candidate" and the state needed a political climate into which industries would be anxious to move.

Hardin also said "we need more safeguards for communities and for workers against fly-by-night, sweatshop type industries. There are industries which pay low wages as to be frankly undesirable."

A newspaper advertisement appeared in Little Rock today, asking voters to "invest in integrity" by mailing campaign donations to Hardin's headquarters.

Asked for comment, Hardin said: "Integrity is a matter for all the people. My race is intended primarily to restore integrity in state government. We feel there are many average citizens who would want to support our campaign on that basis."

EVERYWHERE BUT DELAWARE—With the exception of Delaware, there are TV broadcasting facilities in every state of the Union, and in Puerto Rico, and Guam, too. There are "fringe benefits" for those close enough to scan some of Canada's 68 stations and three Mexican stations—one near El Paso, Tex.; two near the California border. Pending action on applications for TV channels in Delaware, transmitters in Maryland and Pennsylvania reach nicely. State totals include noncommercial educational stations, and stations with construction permits which reported plans to start this year. Data: Television Digest and selected sources.

Early French Influence in Hempstead County Shown By Names of Landmarks

By MARY ANITA LASETER
The early French influence in Hempstead County, Arkansas, can be seen today in the names which still cling to many of our landmarks.

For instance, Bois d'Arc (pronounced Bo 'dark') freely translated is "wood of the ark." It is assumed with the help of legend that the mock orange trees so prevalent in the area produce the type of wood that Noah used in his famous ark.

A creek named Terre Rouge (red land) flows through part of the county and it is obvious why it was named that. The name has been corrupted by mispronunciation to sound something like "Crews" Creek, but since 1819 the name has been Terre Rouge.

Close to the above-mentioned creek is the community of DeAnn. That name was taken from the prairie on which the community is located. Since the Louisiana Purchase the name has been spelled DeAnn, DeAnn, D'Ann, and DeAnn. All variations are derived from the original d'Han which French hunters called the prairie in the 1700's. Back then that was an old battle cry of victory.

American tongues twisted that strange word into an odder variation, Ozan, which became the name of a creek that flows across the prairie and also the name of another Hempstead County town. One of Arkansas' oldest lumber companies named itself for the creek.

Evidently there was a good deal of prairie land in this area at one time. Part of what is Hempstead County today was De Roane Prairie, and when there was a division of townships created, it was only natural for one of them to be called De Roane Township. This is where Hope is located, of course.

The Green Lasetter community, named for my great-grandfather, is another area in the county with a French name. (If it were spelled Laseter it would be Irish.) Its meaning and original pronunciation have both been lost to the present generations which bear it.

All of this sounds like people in our area may once have said "Bon jour" instead of "Morning" in their greetings to friends.

Businessman Dies in Detroit

NEW YORK (AP)—Alvin Rodecker, 60-year-old Detroit businessman, died today after being struck with a five-pound dumbbell which fell eight stories from the apartment of actress Arlene Francis and her husband.

Rodecker was head of the Aarony Deroy Management Co. in Detroit. He and his wife were celebrating his 60th birthday Thursday when he was struck down on a Manhattan sidewalk. An immediate operation was performed at Roosevelt Hospital and Rodecker remained in critical condition.

The dumbbell accidentally fell from a window of the apartment of Miss Francis and her husband, theatrical producer Martin Gabel. Neither Gabel nor Miss Francis was at home at the time.

Two employees in the apartment, police said, were changing a screen held in place by two dumbbells when one of them slipped and fell.

Man Jailed on Murder Charge

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Authorities said today Walter Carpenter, 35, of nearby Percy, has been jailed on a second degree murder charge in the death of a Hot Springs man.

Billy Dale Thompson, 35, died at a veterans administration hospital in Little Rock today.

Authorities said a reported beating in a drinking establishment was involved.

At Little Rock, hospital officials said laboratory reports on the cause of Thompson's death had not been received.

Belgian Congo Names President

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Joseph Kasavubu was elected the first president of the Congo tonight by Parliament. He is the main rival of Patrice Lumumba, first premier of this new nation, which will become independent next Thursday.

Parliamentary approval of Lumumba's cabinet was voted early today, after Lumumba, at the last moment, won backing from Kasavubu, who had contended for the premiership.

Shortage in Funds for Civil Defense

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
HONOLULU (AP)—President Eisenhower's conference with Vice President Richard M. Nixon by telephone may well reflect Republican concern over Democratic attacks on administration foreign policy this election year.

Eisenhower, vacationing in Hawaii after his controversial Far Eastern tour, linked Thursday to Nixon in Washington.

Eisenhower and Nixon discussed the tour, including the furor-stirring cancellation of the three-day visit the President had expected to make to Japan. Eisenhower has blamed blowup of the visit on Communist-inspired rioting in Tokyo.

The President also talked over with Nixon the television-radio report which Eisenhower will make to the American people Monday night on his Far Eastern journey. The President will speak from Washington, and his 30-minute address, starting at 6:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, will be carried live by most of the networks. Others are scheduling delayed broadcasts later in the evening.

After reporting the Eisenhower-Nixon telephone conference, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked whether the President had any comment on what newsmen called mounting criticism by Democrats of Eisenhower's tour.

"Not specifically," Hagerty replied. "But he is somewhat puzzled and somewhat amused by the fact that some of these same gentlemen were saying eight days ago that it would be a catastrophe if he didn't visit Japan."

There is small likelihood, however, that either Eisenhower or Nixon is truly amused by the fresh flurry of attacks by some key Democrats on administration foreign policy generally and the Japanese visit collapse particularly. Among Democrats firing criticism have been Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, regarded as a contender for his party's presidential nomination; Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant majority leader of the Senate; and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Cancellation of the Japan visit, coming atop the U2 spy plane episode and collapse of the May summit conference, has put the administration under perhaps the heaviest attack in the foreign policy field in seven and a half years.

There seems no doubt now that the policy will be a major campaign issue. And Nixon, as the almost-sure bet Republican presidential nominee, is put in the position of having to deal with the opposition attacks.

Eisenhower is in the same position, of course, so his Monday night report cannot help but add up to a reply to the Democrats.

Independent Government Is Formed

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Parliamentary approval of the Congo's first independent government—headed by Patrice Lumumba—today cleared the way for vast territory's freedom from Belgian rule. The transfer of sovereignty takes place next Thursday.

Lumumba at the last moment won the backing of his chief rival, Joseph Kasavubu, who had contended with him for the premiership. It was rumored that Kasavubu expected to be named chief of state.

In a cheering, tumultuous post-midnight session, the Congo Parliament approved Lumumba and his cabinet with 74 affirmative votes. Only one vote was cast against the nationalist leader, but there were 5 abstentions and 57 members were absent.

Lumumba, 34, is president of the National Congolese Movement. Belgians fear and distrust him, saying he is an opportunist who foments racial hatred and that he has taken money from Belgian Communists.

Tax Writers Agreed on a Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional tax writers agreed on a compromise excise tax bill today and dropped a proposal to repeal the 4 per cent credit on dividend income.

Also dropped in a Senate House committee's adjustment of different bills passed by the two branches of Congress was a proposal to narrow the list of entertainment items businessmen may deduct as business expenses.

Both the proposals had been voted by the Senate but not by the House.

It had been estimated that repeal of the dividend allowance would bring the government 320 million dollars revenue annually.

The revenue estimate on the proposal to tighten business entertainment deductions was 250 million.

The Conference Committee's decisions are subject to ratification by the Senate and House.

Notes About a Kidnaping Found

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—Police say today that notes purportedly signed by a woman kidnapping victim have been found in service station rest rooms here and at Magnolia.

The note here, penciled on a paper towel, read:

"I am Mrs. Joanne Hobbs of Tulsa, Miss., caught victim of two men driving a two-tone blue 1951 Ford with Mississippi tag. Please notify police in surrounding towns. Thank you, Joanne Hobbs."

The note left at Magnolia was similar.

Venezuelan President Almost Killed

By RICHARD G. MASOCK
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—His face swollen and hands bandaged as a result of the bomb blast that narrowly missed killing him, President Romulo Betancourt pressed a secret today for those behind the plot.

Betancourt, back in Miraflores Palace after being treated in a hospital for injuries, told reporters the attack was part of a wide spread plan to overthrow his government and set up a new dictatorship.

"The incident shows that the enemies of democracy—national and international—will resort to every possible means to try to establish tyranny in the country," Betancourt told newsmen.

Venezuela's borders were sealed off, air travel halted and some constitutional guarantees suspended to facilitate the search.

Defense Minister Lopez Ibanez, who sat next to Betancourt and was burned when the bomb went off, alerted the country's armed forces against any attempt to overthrow the President's three-party coalition government.

Three persons were reported killed and eight wounded in the blast, which marked the third assassination plot against Betancourt.

The explosion destroyed the President's car as he arrived for an army day ceremony on the Avenue of Heroes outside Caracas.

As Betancourt's car drew alongside a green sedan parked in the line, the sedan exploded with a roar setting the President's vehicle afire.

Perez Jimenez declined to see reporters at his mansion in Miami Beach, Fla., where he is living in exile.

Says Russia Trying for a U.S. Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—George V. Allen, director of the U.S. Information Agency, declared today the Soviet Union may be engaged in a tit-for-tat effort to establish a Communist base at the edge of the United States.

Such an objective as a counter to the U.S. bases near the Soviet Union, Allen told a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, could account for international communism's "new and intensified campaign for intervention" in Latin America.

That area of the world is a prime Communist target, Allen said, and "the Cuban revolution, with its extreme leftist overtones, has opened the door to increased Communist penetration of this hemisphere."

He testified that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who plans to visit Cuba, has given fresh evidence of Communist designs on Latin America.

In Cuba, he said, the Communist bloc contemplates "full though somewhat veiled" support of the Fidel Castro regime, possibly hoping to provoke a situation in which the United States could be accused of military or economic intervention.

The U.S. government, he added, hopes "the Cuban people, with their tradition of freedom, eventually will come to insist on a change of course for their government in order to obtain the democracy and freedom they always have sought."

One of the main drives of the Soviet Union, Allen commented, has been against the development of U.S. bases. It may now be, he said, that Kremlin leaders have decided "two can play at this game and they can start operating in our backyard."

After three decades of close observation, Allen said, "the Communists now believe Latin America is ripe for picking."

Airliner With 51 Persons Aboard Down

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A Brazilian airliner with 51 persons aboard, including at least one American, plunged into Guanabara Bay Friday night while approaching Rio de Janeiro. Search teams found parts of bodies and wreckage but no survivors.

The twin-engine Convair, on a 60-mile flight from the new capital of Brasilia with a midway stopover at Belo Horizonte, was listed as missing nearly eight hours.

The crash was confirmed early today when navy search crews found the plane's wreckage floating in the bay off the island of Paqueta, about 10 miles up the bay from Rio's Dumont Airport.

Later the searchers reported finding parts of bodies and pieces of luggage that had floated up on the beach.

Among those listed aboard was Newton B. Thompson, a native of Waterville, Maine, an official of the American Bond and Share Electric Co.

A spokesman for Real Airlines said the passenger list carried other Anglo-Saxon names, including George Pfister, Janet S. Lister and H. V. Lee. This line could not confirm their nationalities or give their addresses.

Thompson's wife told reporters in Rio that her husband had been in Belo Horizonte on business.

Earlier reports had said the plane might be carrying several Brazilian congressmen who often travel from Brasilia for weekends in Rio. It was later learned that only one congressman, Jose Gomes Talarico, had boarded the flight in Brasilia. Arriving at Belo Horizonte he learned the plane would be delayed.

"I had to be in Rio early," he told newsmen later. "I asked if I could transfer my ticket to another airline, leaving sooner. The airline said it could not make the transfer. I bought another ticket and I'm alive tonight."

The airline said pilot Joao Belloc radioed the Santos Dumont Airport tower shortly before 6 p.m. He said he was approaching the landing field at 1,800 feet and was just over Paqueta Island. Then the radio went dead.

Political Facts Up to This Point

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the national convention season just two and a half weeks away, the political cauldron has come to a rolling boil. Some of the bubbles that came to the surface Thursday:

—Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, front runner for the Democratic prize, snared his largest single bloc of convention votes so far when 91 1/2 of New York's 14 were pledged to him.

—Backers of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas figured Kennedy will have over 600 votes when the convention starts July 11, but said their man would have 502 and claimed his total would swell in later ballots unless Kennedy manages to sweep the board on the first ballot; 761 convention votes are needed to nominate.

—President Eisenhower, golfing in Hawaii after his Far East trip, was reported drafting a reply to mounting Democratic criticism of his foreign policy, particularly the consequences of the cancellation of his visit to Japan.

Eisenhower talked by phone with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP's prospective nominee, for the first time since leaving on his trip.

Eisenhower's press secretary James C. Hagerty, said the President, "is somewhat puzzled and amused that some of these same gentlemen were saying before the trip it would be a catastrophe if he didn't go to Japan." Hagerty didn't say which Democrats he meant.

Kennedy's New York strength brought his unofficial total of votes to 484, according to an Associated Press tabulation. His camp claims he will go into the convention with more than 600; the AP tabulation counts votes determined by state primaries, state convention action and polls of individual delegates willing to announce their stand.

Johnson's total in the AP list now is 202 1/2. He got 2 1/2 votes from the New York delegation meeting at Albany, N. Y.

At Trenton, N. J., Robert J. Burkhart, a close political adviser to Gov. Robert B. Meyner, said he thinks the state's 41-vote delegation should switch to Kennedy now. It presently is pledged to Meyner as a favorite son.

Grandmother Awaits Birth of Quads

MEMPHIS (AP) — A 38-year-old grandmother is in the Naval Hospital here awaiting the birth of quadruplets, the Navy said.

A spokesman said Mrs. Minnie Laura Box, wife of an airman, was expecting around Aug. 21 but was hospitalized early when x-rays confirmed the multiple birth.

Mrs. Box and her 40-year-old husband, chief aviation technician Thomas A. Box, already are parents of four children, 20 years to 26 months old. They have been married 22 years.

Quadruplets occur only once in about every one million confinements.

The prospects of four more children may force Box to change plans. He said he had hoped to retire from the Navy and enter the ministry in 1961. Now he doesn't know.

"Pray for us," he said.

11 Die in Fire

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Firemen and police today began searching the smoking ruins of a five-story department store in which at least 11 persons died. A dozen persons were injured.

Liverpool's worst fire since the 1940 Nazi blitz swept through the crowded store in midafternoon Wednesday.

An engineer working on a renovation project fell to his death from a finger-tip hold on a top floor ledge after helping five girls to safety.

About 400 customers and 300 employees were in the store when smoke started pouring through ventilators. Within minutes the whole building was in flames.

Weather Fails to Break Up Politics

FAVETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A battery of politician fought a tiring battle with Mother Nature here last night and the hardy spectators who were around at the finish probably would say the politicians won.

The candidates for office, including the four men trying to unseat Gov. Orval E. Faubus, withstood a power failure and a thunderstorm which scattered most of the crowd.

"Just call it the hard-luck rally," said Charles Honey, president of gusto. A Faubus aide, J. Orville Young Democrats, who staged the event. Honey, a Washington County Deputy Sheriff, estimated the crowd at 1,500 but said over 1,200 left when the thunderstorm cut short the speech of Joe C. Hardin, one of the candidates for governor.

Hardin, Bruce Bennett and H.E. Williams attacked the Faubus administration with their usual gusto. A Faubus aide, J. Orville Cheney, represented the absent governor and listed accomplishments of the administration. "Is this what they want to abolish?" asked Cheney, who resigned as State revenue commissioner to take a hand in Faubus' fourth term bid.

Hal Millsap Jr., the fifth candidate in the governor's race, said Arkansas has the "sorriest roads and sorriest school system" and added that if he is elected he will run the state on a businesslike basis.

City and county candidates and some of the state hopefuls had to speak in growing darkness because of a power failure. Millsap brought out a portable public address system from his touring bus until the electrical system could be repaired.

The lights came on amid thunder and lightning and when the gubernatorial candidates took the platform, the storm hit.

After the downpour, Cheney Millsap and Williams spoke inside a pavilion to the remaining spectators.

Bennett, one of the candidates who spoke between the light failure and the storm, renewed his accusation that the Faubus administration had practiced tax favor-

PREDICTED LOG CONTESTS FOR FAST AND SLOW BOATS

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN

Editor, Popular Boating

(Distributed by)

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

A boat race in which no one tries to finish first is becoming popular.

The skippers involved don't even like to refer to it as a race. It's a contest, but may the best boatman win.

Speed is not essential. Comfortable power cruisers can take part and the whole family can come along. Races are official and sanctioned and supervised by the American Power Boat Association.

A course is laid out around a lake, river, bay or along a coast with check points along the way. The skipper must record in a log book and announce in advance just when he will pass each of these points. That's how the event gets its name, a predicted log contest.

A skipper may plan to reach the mid-day lighthouse in 37 minutes, turn at a navigation buoy just an hour later, and cross the and an observer is stationed aboard.

The skipper must know how his boat operates at various throttle settings—and more.

If a wind is behind or ahead of the boat, if a tide is ebbing along the coast, or if a strong river current cuts across the bay—this the skipper must predict in advance or allow for on the spot, and know how much his running time will be effected.

These are the skills that would help him get home safely in a fog or at night when he needs to estimate exactly when the harbor breakwater will appear.

But as M. L. (Mike) Hersey, cruiser racing commission expert, points out, this is a contest that can be a lot of fun. The boatman's family may take part. The skipper can travel as slowly as he wishes just so he hits each check point according to schedule and finishes the race on the required minute.

Boats may start hours apart but are supposed to finish together. The excitement heightens as the fleet crowds up approaching the finish line with some boats seemingly to be going too fast and others too slowly.

The winner is determined by how nearly he passed his check positions at the time predicted, as recorded by the observer with the only clock aboard. Sippers are becoming so accurate that they may be only decimal places away.

Predicted log contests offer a navigational workout for outboard and inboard skippers.

U.N. Backs Argentina's Contention

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Security Council has endorsed Argentina's contention that the capture of Adolf Eichmann by Israeli agents violated Argentine sovereignty. But Israel still has Eichmann and obviously is going to keep him for trial.

The mild, vague resolution did not ask for Eichmann's return to Argentina, as Argentina had demanded earlier. And Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion already had said flatly Eichmann would stay in Israel to stand trial on charges that, as chief of the Gestapo's Jewish section, he supervised the extermination of six million European Jews in World War II.

In Buenos Aires, the foreign under secretary, Miguel Angel Centeno, said his government might consider an apology from Israel sufficient reparation. Reports circulated in Paris that Argentine President Arturo Frondizi might

Says Reds to Await U. S. Elections

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials believe the Soviet Union may soon try to suspend disarmament negotiations at Geneva on the grounds that progress toward agreement is impossible until after a change of administrations in Washington.

Authorities said the Soviet government probably is reluctant to make definite break-off move for time, but two developments indicate they are maneuvering in that direction.

In the 16-nation disarmament conference Communist spokesmen at recent sessions have accused the United States and other Western powers of stalling and of failing to display any interest in real progress toward agreement.

For their part they have insisted that the West accept Soviet proposals as a basis for negotiation, and so far have rejected all efforts to draw them into detailed discussions even on their own plan.

In connection with the three-power negotiations for a treaty prohibiting nuclear weapons tests the Soviet Union recently sounded out the United States informally about shelving the conference until after the November presidential elections in this country.

A Soviet diplomat at Geneva is understood to have suggested to a U. S. diplomat that no progress was possible so long as President Eisenhower remains in office. The United States rebuffed the Soviet approach about a long recess but authorities here considered it significant.

Suspension of the conference would be in line with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's campaign to discredit President Eisenhower as an effective U. S. leader in the search for peace.

Officials said the United States and its allies have no intention of agreeing to a long recess in either conference.

They are not sure how matters will develop in the nuclear test negotiations during the next few weeks but are pessimistic about any real progress. They expect little accomplishment even though the belief still prevails in official quarters that in the long run Khrushchev wants a nuclear test ban.

Faubus said he would speak at Batesville at 10 a.m. on July 2, go the same day to Searcy and Judsonia and return to Batesville at night to crown the winner of the White River Water Carnival.

Monday, July 4, he will speak at Clarendon, Portin, Piggott and Corning, where holiday celebrations will be held.

Castro Wants To Wager With Herter

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
HAVANA, AP — Fidel Castro says he is willing to make a million-ton wager on Cuban sugar production with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

The bearded Prime Minister made the statement in a TV talk to the Cuban people Friday night — his eighth major speech in 20 days.

"It followed a statement by Herter in Washington to the House Agriculture Committee that exports predict Cuba's sugar production will drop at least one million tons soon. Herter added that this is a good time to diversify U.S. sugar supply sources. The committee has been considering giving President Eisenhower authority to cut Cuba's quota of the U.S. market.

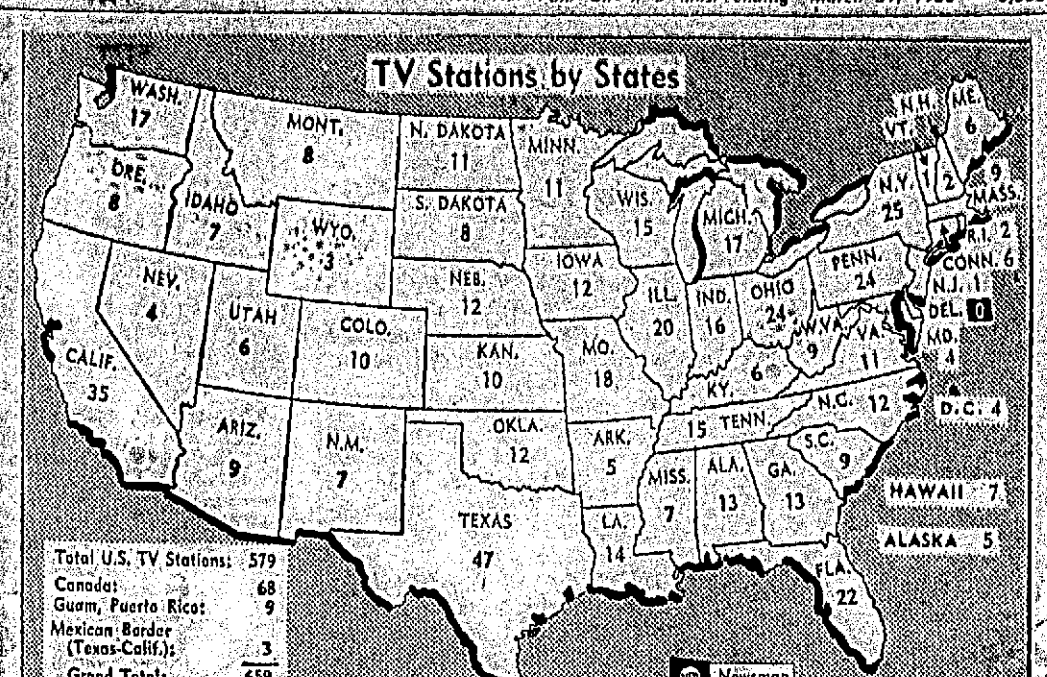

Castro said he would be willing to surrender Cuba's share of the sugar market in the United States if his country's production in 1961 drops a million tons — provided the Cuban quota is increased by a million tons if production increases that much. Castro said the American public is "being fooled" on the sugar situation.

"We can sell sugar to the United States at a cheaper price if they want it," the Prime Minister said. "We can contribute to the lowering of the American cost of living."

The United States is still buying about 3½ million tons of sugar from Cuba, more than half the Cuban crop, and to protect U.S. producers is paying a premium of about 2 cents above the world market price. Since Castro's increasing restrictions on American investors in Cuba, there has been growing sentiment in the U.S. Congress for a cut in the sugar quota allotted Cuba and an increase in purchases from other producers whose governments are more friendly to the United States.

Castro reiterated a threat that "American investments" would be seized in proportion to the amount of Cuban sugar quota reductions. "We'll exchange Cuban quota cuts for American property seizures," he said. "They cut off all our quota, we'll take all their property."

He also repeated his warning that American and British oil refineries in Cuba are obligated to refine imported crude oil from the Soviet Union, and have only a few more days to make up their minds.

Truman for More Foreign Aid Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman today voiced "strong support" of President Eisenhower's request for restoration of the 500% million dollars which the House cut from the foreign aid program.

His stand was disclosed in a message to Chairman Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) and read at a public hearing of the Senate Appropriations Committee, considering the foreign aid money bill.

"Events of the past two months demonstrate that this is no time to cut down the mutual security program, or to impede its operations," Truman said.

"In particular, deep slashes in the funds requested, by the administration for economic assistance, the development loan fund and technical assistance would be dangerous."

The Point Four program, was inaugurated under Truman's administration. It provides for economic aid to underdeveloped countries.

Truman's message opened a day of comments from non-governmental witnesses. The hearings will be concluded Monday.

Truman Out Step With Candidates

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Truman is away out of step with the presidential candidates of his own Democratic party.

Just a few days ago Truman made a plea for bipartisanship in foreign policy. He said he'd fuss with President Eisenhower "on local affairs but on foreign affairs people ought to back him up."

But before and after he said it the Democratic candidates were already facing into Eisenhower's handling of foreign affairs, making it clear that they consider foreign policy a major issue in the 1960 campaign.

The one candidate who'd be happy if all Democrats shared Truman's view is Vice President Richard M. Nixon who, since he was so much a part of the Eisenhower administration, will have to defend it from attack.

There's Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, majority leader of the Senate Democrats. Until recently he was playing the role of the great pacifier and spender of oil on troubled waters. He tried to quiet Senate criticism of foreign policy after the U2 plane incident.

But Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democrats' front-runner for the nomination, wouldn't listen and went along merrily blasting Eisenhower's handling of foreign affairs.

Johnson, either because he changed his mind or thought he'd better get moving if he hoped to stop Kennedy, began booming the foreign policy issue himself.

Now he's calling the Eisenhower foreign policy a policy of "drift" and is accusing the administration of a "depressing lack of new ideas."

On June 14 Kennedy not only went after the Eisenhower foreign policy but produced a detailed foreign program of his own.

He said the real issue of foreign policy is "the lack of long-range planning, the lack of a coherent and purposeful national strategy backed by strength."

"As a substitute for policy, Mr. Eisenhower has tried smiling at the Russians, our State Department has tried frowning on them, and Mr. Nixon has tried both. None have succeeded."

Thursday night Adlai Stevenson, who refuses to say he's a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination but still won't take himself out of consideration, seemed to be wearing two-hats.

He said both parties should keep Premier Nikita Khrushchev out of the campaign. He said the Russian's aim "is American weakness and disunity."

But almost immediately, as if he were having second thoughts, Stevenson said there is a need for a full and frank discussion of the international situation. How this can be done without bringing Khrushchev into it is, at the moment, a Stevensonian secret.

Even Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Truman's choice for the Democratic nomination, has been critical of the Eisenhower foreign policy.

So among Democrats Truman, whose own handling of foreign policy was roundly assailed by Eisenhower in the 1952 campaign, stands alone in avoiding criticism of Eisenhower on foreign affairs.

Not even New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who'd like to get the Republican nomination, has kept quiet on the subject. He's made it clear he definitely thinks American foreign policy needs improving.

Nixon, as the Republican candidate, may offer some new ideas on foreign affairs but he is not in much position to criticize what's happened in the past. As he said himself last June 11:

"I've been a part of this ad-

business activity.

The board's move had a curiously stimulative effect. Nine times out of 10 in the past, businessmen would have taken alarm. They would have interpreted a drop in the discount rate as an official recognition that a recession already was under way.

This time, the stock market went up and business confidence flamed. Businessmen generally accepted at face value the board's emphatic statement that "the economy is on a solid base and inflationary psychology has lessened."

Business Buoyancy Is Less Now

Editor's Note: At mid-year 1960, the national economy is healthy but the rate of advance has slowed down. What's ahead for the rest of the year? Economists think business will be on a high plateau, having only a slight incline and some believe there is a chance for a recession in early or middle 1961. In the following article, Sterling F. Green of the Washington Associated Press staff reviews business as of now.

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — There's less business buoyancy this June than there was in January. Still, the midyear finds many more optimists than pessimists in Washington.

A majority of economists interviewed predict the economy will keep on making gains and selling records throughout 1960, and possibly beyond.

But the rate of advance has slowed markedly. It may slow further. National output probably will show less growth in the last part of the year than it did in the first quarter alone.

By the year-end, in the private view of government and industry economists, the economy will be moving on a high plateau having only a slight incline.

The time to watch out for a recession, if one is in the offing, is in early or middle 1961, some of the experts believe.

Meantime the outlook for the second half of 1960 is for:

1. A national output totaling about $907 billion dollars worth of goods and services. That is lower, by around five billion, than the average of the new year's forecasts. It would be 5 1/2 per cent better than last year's gross national product, however.
2. A stable cost of living. Consumer prices are expected to advance by not much more than 1 per cent during the entire year, in spite of the May bludge caused by bad crop weather.
3. A rather sluggish job picture. Employment keeps setting records, but it is not full employment. Joblessness is staying stubbornly close to 5 per cent of the working force, compared with 4 per cent or less in recent years of high prosperity.
4. Rising incomes. Total personal income probably has topped by now the 400-billion-dollar mark; it reached 399 1/2 billion in May. The steady rise of wages, salaries and other forms of income has surprised many economists. Income rose during the 1959 steel strike and this year's March weather setback.
5. Strong consumer demand. Most economists believe the consumer is the real key to business growth in second-half 1960. The household's proven willingness to borrow and spend should offset an already visible slowdown in business outlays.
6. Easier credit. The Federal Reserve Board's decision on June 8 to cut the discount rate — the interest charge on money it lends to banks — amounts to a proclamation that the board will wield its huge money power to stimulate when Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., are scheduled to make final pleas for restoration of the House cuts.

This spring, hair styles are reminiscent of the 1930's, and there are two major styles: the longer length and a version of the shingle. There are many variations of both. The advantage of the longer hair style is that it can be worn up down, day or evening. This gentle and beautiful hair style (left) suggests the Carole Lombard era. Easy though it looks, it is based on an expert cut and a permanent. The 1960 version (center) of the evening hairdo is this one, done with bandeau waves and a criss-cross treatment at the back. And for women of the bob, cap (right) is a new version of the 1920 shingle with the back cut in layers rather than actually shingled. This is an easy, hard-to-tangle style, but requires a permanent, since it needs body. All hair styles shown here were designed by Michel of Helena Rubinstein. The cap cut is ideal for coarse hair; the others for fine hair.

Past Repeats Self For Unhappy Wife

FORGET IF YOU CAN!
By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:

My husband and I have been married 16 months and are more in love than we ever thought possible. We came to the West Coast a year ago to get away from problems back East. This is a second marriage for us both.

Lately my husband has been very distant. We have discussed this but can't seem to locate the reason. We see little of each other. He works days and goes to school nights (summer and winter). We lost our baby by premature birth last December. I felt let down and homesick so got a part time job. He resented this. In turn he thinks me resentful of his going to school. I'm not.

About two weeks ago I was napping on the divan after recovering from chickenpox. He said he was going downtown awhile. That night is like a nightmare to me. He didn't come home till 4:30 a.m. He said he felt he didn't love me any more and was out with a woman. While with her he realized he never could love anyone but me.

Now, when it comes to marriage, I'm old-fashioned but I believe everyone is entitled to one mistake. So I'm trying hard to forget, though I sometimes think it will drive me crazy. My husband has been very kind and affectionate and is trying hard to make it up to me, but when he comes near me I freeze up. I love him; he loves me. Neither of us wants a divorce. —Desperate.

Dear Desperate: If you want to salvage your marriage, you must forgive and forget. See this transgression of your husband's as a stepping stone to your mutual happiness. Be grateful to the woman who made him realize that it was you, not she, he loved. I'm sending you my leaflet on Marital Harmony.

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:

I am a senior in high school graduating this June. I've been going with a guy in the Navy three years. We met when he was 18 and I was 15. Because of our ages we both agreed to date other people. Last night a boy I've

TV Gimmie Awards Are Listed

THE LIGHTER SIDE
By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Earlier this week the television industry announced the winners of the "Gimmie" awards. And now it's time for me to announce the winners of the "Gimmie" awards.

The trouble is, there are so many winners, I don't have the space to list them all.

I had planned to present the awards to the members of Congress who did the most this year toward keeping the federal Treasury from overflowing.

I had in mind getting some sculptor to design a bronze statue, which the lawmakers could display in their offices, to show they had made a contribution to the federal debt.

These symbolic figurines, called "Gimmies," would have depicted a taxpayer over a barrel with his back to the wall. It wouldn't have been hard to find a model. I could have posed for it myself.

Gives Unit Citation

But so many congressmen did outstanding spendthrift work this year that I have decided to declare it "no contest." I think I'll just give Congress a unit citation and pass along to the special awards in other fields of public service.

The first special award goes to Rep. D. R. (Billy) Matthews (D-Fla.), who single-handedly saved the nation last winter after he was barred from entering a reserved section of the Mayflower Hotel lobby.

In a speech on the House floor, Matthews warned that "if statesmen are ever prohibited from going into the lobbies of hotels, I predict this republic is not far from its fall."

The hotel immediately adopted an "open lobby" policy for congressmen and the last time I looked the republic was still standing.

The next award, for the best left-handed compliment, goes to offering was taken for missions. The meeting adjourned with the Missionary Benediction repeated in unison.

Mrs. Max Kitchens and Mrs. Mac Garland motored to Fayetteville during the weekend and were accompanied to Hot Springs by Miss Jane Kitchens, who attended the National Pi Beta Phi convention in Hot Springs at the Arlington Hotel. They accompanied her back to the U. of A. on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. I. Rephan of Hot Springs were Monday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gee.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Durham and daughters, Woody and Carlene have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Durham.

Eddie and Emory White Jr., have returned to Ft. Smith after a visit with their grandmother, Mrs. Watson White Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Imen Gee had as their Monday guests, Mrs. Sam Roach of Hope.

Mrs. Aubrey Anderson and Sandra Kay spent Monday in Emmett with her mother, Mrs. Jim Broad.

Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Lee had as their Tuesday guests, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil B. Lee of Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. L. L. Buchanan spent Monday in Arkansas with her daughter, Mrs. Bob McBrayer and family.

Jimmy Ingram has returned to Midland, Tex., after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Vuel Cham-berlain and Mr. and Mrs. Nolen Ingram.

Cool Front in State, It Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cool front moved into Arkansas today and sent temperatures down as it moved from the north west into the central part of the state.

Rain showers fell from thunderstorms moving behind the front.

A downpour hit Little Rock at mid-day. The temperature dropped from 91 to a cool 72 within 45 minutes.

This contrasted with mid-90 readings at noon yesterday.

Man Injured in Wreck at Truman

TRUMANN, Ark. (AP) — Oscar Melton, 48, brother of Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce president Marvin Melton, was injured seriously in an auto wreck near here yesterday.

Melton's wife was injured less seriously. She was a passenger in the car he was driving.

State Police said an auto driven by Frank Waddington, 73, of Trumann, pulled out of a side road and collided with the Melton car on a paved country road between Linstord and Trumann. The Melton car overturned four times and Mrs. Melton was thrown out.

Waddington was unhurt.

Sen. Hugh Scott (D-Pa.), commenting on charges that Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) was "an overeducated O.B.," Scott said "I do not think the senator, from Arkansas is overeducated at all."

Loses Immunity

The award in the congressional immunity division goes to Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D-N.Y.), who left his car by a parking meter, thinking his congressional license plates would keep police from giving him a ticket.

When he returned two days later, he discovered the meter was owned by a private parking lot and that he owed $11.20 in fees.

The award for introducing the bill most unlikely to be passed goes to Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.). It would cut the salaries of congressmen to 53 cents an hour.

The final award, for long distance interrogation, goes to Rep. Harry R. Sheppard (D-Calif.) for asking a general question:

"Assuming that your present proposal is effectuated, is it to be interpreted by the members of this committee that due to the existing conditions of the unknown factor, internationally speaking, which you, the military, have very ably expressed for a long period of time, and most recently, you feel that you will have the capability and competency within this consolidated edibility to produce your pilot requirements under an extremity as of tomorrow or next week?"

The general's answer was "yes, sir."

HARD PURSUED

BY NORMAN A. FOX

CHAPTER XXXVI

Buckner saw the telegraph pole drop, and McQueen's office door open. The sheriff stood there, peering out, drawn by that cry, a smoking rifle in his hand. Behind him stood Gully Jordan, and looking over Gully's shoulder was Dorcas.

"Lark!" a man shouted, "Is that you, Lark?"

"Spence!" Lark Rigby called in a voice of thunder. "Come here!"

Spence Rigby had stood apart from the others, big and recognizable in his yellow slicker. His round face showed the same astonishment as the others, but his held something else - a fright that turned to fury. He started to run, but swung back, his hand jerking open his slicker and bringing out a gun. Buckner thought frantically of Pru, here beside him and Lark Rigby. Spence tilted the gun toward his brother, but the explosion that filled the night came from another gun, in Rufe York's hand. Spence was carried backward as though by a great wind. His feet tangled, and he went down.

Buckner got off his horse and began fighting his way through Hatcher's crew. No man stopped him; they were no longer his enemy. He got to where Spence lay writhing; his gun fallen beside him. He kicked Spence's gun away. He knelt by Spence and found Lark Rigby come up, too. Lark stood looking down at Spence. Spence shook his head as though trying to clear his vision. "Tried did this," he said chokingly. "Doublecrossed me - glad I killed him." Now he seemed to see Lark. "Sorry," he said. "Sorry." His eyes went vacant. "Tried hard to get Duke Jordan - wanted to square for you."

He died then. Lark turned away, and Buckner stood up and saw big Rufe York towering over his boss. Rufe had a whiskey smell about him, but he had become cold, sober, and looked as though he were going to be sick. He said, "Lark, I didn't want to shoot. He was your brother. But it was your or him."

"I know," Lark Rigby said gruffly. "I'll remember how it was, Rufe." He brushed on past York, walking like a man in his sleep.

Buckner, too, felt like a sleepwalker. He found himself in McQueen's office, and Pru was with him, and Lark, too.

Lark said, "Gully, I guess my mistake was in not knowing you really was my enemy. There'll be no more trouble."

"Reckon not," Gully said. "I'm tearing it down tomorrow."

Buckner wandered into the jail corridor. Dorcas was here, talking through the bars to Duke. Buckner came on until he, too, was before the door and could see Duke.

"I'm mighty obliged, Ry," Duke said.

"Sure, Duke," he said. He remembered the letter then, and Dorcas' intent. He drew the letter from his pocket. A cuspidor stood here in the corridor. He tore the letter to bits and dropped these into the cuspidor.

"My wedding present to the two of you," he said. "You go confessing to Cross anyway, Duke, and you throw the gift back in my face. I wouldn't like that."

Dorcas said, "It's more than we deserve, Ry. Me, anyway."

Buckner shook Duke's hand and then leaned and brushed his lips against Dorcas' cheek. "And a kiss for the bride," he said.

Later Buckner sat on the south slope, his back to the railroad track, sat with his knees drawn up and his arms jacked around them; and from this crest he looked at the buildings of Signal below, fortress in the depth of the gulch and along its slopes. He had sat here a long time: it would soon be dawn. He had done his thinking, and he was at peace with himself, for he knew where his destiny lay.

He stirred now, seeing someone toiling up the slope toward him; and he knew her - he knew Pru. He would never mistake her for Dorcas again, for he knew the difference.

She stood before him, waiting to get her breath, and then she laughed. "I've searched the town over for you, I even woke up Jake Hollis to ask if you were in the livery loft. Finally I remembered that the way you came back might be the way you'd leave. Don't you know there's no freight through here till night after next?"

"I'm not waiting for a train," he said. "I just came up here for a look."

"Where to, then, Ry?"

He waved his hand at the huddled buildings below and the valley beyond. "It's my town and my range," he said. "There'll be a place for me in it. Someday I'll get some land and a few cattle to stock it. Enough to make a start."

"Of course," she said. "We'll begin working for that land as soon as we get married."

He shook his head. "Pru," he said very seriously, "how could I offer you that? You'd always think of yourself as second choice."

She sat down beside him. "My first choice - my only choice." She began laughing again, and he liked that; he remembered how she had laughed that night he'd crawled through the window at her house. He knew now that he had always liked her laughter. He had found laughter lacking in Dorcas, and the joy of free living that belonged to those who went forth unhindered to meet whatever the world might hold for them.

He put his arm around her and drew her close to him. When you're tested," he said, "we'll walk back down together."

Methodists Elevate Three to Bishops

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Delegates to the South Central Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist Church last night elevated two Texans and an Oklahoman to the rank of bishop.

Elected bishop were the Rev. Eugene Slater of Amarillo, Tex.; the Rev. Kenneth Pope of Houston, Tex.; and the Rev. Paul Galloway of Tulsa, Okla. Galloway is a native of Mountain Home, Ark.

Two more bishops will be elected before the conference ends Sunday.

The three pastors were elected on the first three ballots. In the fourth and fifth ballots no one got the necessary 166 votes or 60 per cent of the votes, needed to be elected a bishop.

The result of a sixth ballot taken near the close of last night's session, was to be announced.

Openings for the new bishops were made possible by the creation of two new Episcopal areas earlier in the meeting. The retirements of Bishops A. Frank Smith of Houston and Dana Dawson of Kansas, and the death of Bishop H. Bascom Watt of Nebraska.

The conference can assign the bishops named here to any Episcopal area.

Headquarters for the two additional episcopal areas will be at San Antonio and New Orleans.

The Louisiana area will include the Louisiana conference, which formerly was part of the Louisiana-Arkansas area with headquarters in Little Rock, Ark.

The executive secretary of the jurisdictional council, Paul D. Womeldorf of Oklahoma City, reported churches in the eight states of the jurisdiction added 30,184 members last year to boost total membership to 1,926,274.

Contributions totaled $101,679,915 last year, an increase of $51,750,235 over the 1950 figure.

The Rev. Aubrey G. Walton, pastor of Little Rock's First Methodist Church, was only 21 votes short of election on the fifth ballot. He had 160.

Dr. Marshall T. Steel, president of Hendrix College at Conway, Ark. got 21 votes on the first ballot and 19 on the second.

The Rev. Joe Tower of Texarkana had 14 votes on the first ballot and 10 on the second. The Rev. Alben Godbold of St. Louis, formerly of Conway and El Dorado, Ark., received 24 votes on the first ballot and 24 on the second, while the Rev. Leland Clegg of Oklahoma City, former superintendent of the Camden, Ark., district, got 18 on the first ballot and 11 on the second.

Galloway attended Hendrix College, Southern Methodist University and Yale University. He holds honorary degrees from Hendrix and Arkansas AM&N College.

After being admitted to the Little Rock Conference 35 years ago, Galloway held pastorates at Clarendon, Osceola, Forrest City, Little Rock's Winfield Methodist Church and Central Methodist Church in Fayetteville before going to Tulsa.

He was a member of the Southern Methodist Church in the world, in 1920.

His father, Dr. James J. Galloway, was an Arkansas minister for 30 years.

Junior Legion Wins Again at Gurdon

Hope Junior American Legion baseball team won their 8th straight victory last night at Gurdon with a score of 8 to 5. Parris led the Hope team with 2 home runs and a double. The local lads outlit Gurdon 13-5. Hope goes to Smackover Sunday.

Headquarters for the two additional episcopal areas will be at San Antonio and New Orleans.

The Louisiana area will include the Louisiana conference, which formerly was part of the Louisiana-Arkansas area with headquarters in Little Rock, Ark.

The executive secretary of the jurisdictional council, Paul D. Womeldorf of Oklahoma City, reported churches in the eight states of the jurisdiction added 30,184 members last year to boost total membership to 1,926,274.

Contributions totaled $101,679,915 last year, an increase of $51,750,235 over the 1950 figure.

The Rev. Aubrey G. Walton, pastor of Little Rock's First Methodist Church, was only 21 votes short of election on the fifth ballot. He had 160.

Dr. Marshall T. Steel, president of Hendrix College at Conway, Ark. got 21 votes on the first ballot and 19 on the second.

The Rev. Joe Tower of Texarkana had 14 votes on the first ballot and 10 on the second. The Rev. Alben Godbold of St. Louis, formerly of Conway and El Dorado, Ark., received 24 votes on the first ballot and 24 on the second, while the Rev. Leland Clegg of Oklahoma City, former superintendent of the Camden, Ark., district, got 18 on the first ballot and 11 on the second.

Galloway attended Hendrix College, Southern Methodist University and Yale University. He holds honorary degrees from Hendrix and Arkansas AM&N College.

After being admitted to the Little Rock Conference 35 years ago, Galloway held pastorates at Clarendon, Osceola, Forrest City, Little Rock's Winfield Methodist Church and Central Methodist Church in Fayetteville before going to Tulsa.

He was a member of the Southern Methodist Church in the world, in 1920.

His father, Dr. James J. Galloway, was an Arkansas minister for 30 years.

you'd leave. Don't you know there's no freight through here till night after next?"

"I'm not waiting for a train," he said. "I just came up here for a look."

"Where to, then, Ry?"

He waved his hand at the huddled buildings below and the valley beyond. "It's my town and my range," he said. "There'll be a place for me in it. Someday I'll get some land and a few cattle to stock it. Enough to make a start."

"Of course," she said. "We'll begin working for that land as soon as we get married."

He shook his head. "Pru," he said very seriously, "how could I offer you that? You'd always think of yourself as second choice."

She sat down beside him. "My first choice - my only choice." She began laughing again, and he liked that; he remembered how she had laughed that night he'd crawled through the window at her house. He knew now that he had always liked her laughter. He had found laughter lacking in Dorcas, and the joy of free living that belonged to those who went forth unhindered to meet whatever the world might hold for them.

He put his arm around her and drew her close to him. When you're tested," he said, "we'll walk back down together."

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

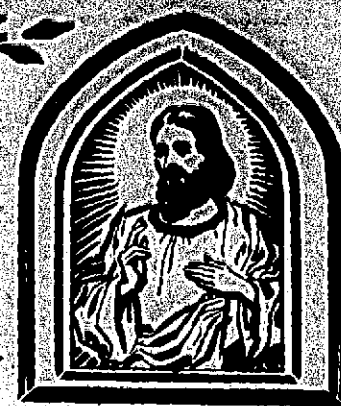

MORTY MEEKLE

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE

Whosoever Will may come to Church may come to God...

This Fruit

... looks like an apple from a good tree. God used this parable to teach an authoritative lesson of truth to some who were calling, "Lord, Lord." He answered, saying, "Not everyone that calls me Lord, shall get to heaven." He spoke plainly and used small words, and said, "Only those who bear good fruit will make it." See this tree loaded with fine fruit! Few of us stop to ponder its history. But every orchard expert knows well every sound tree. The good fruit is detectable from way off. The lesson is clear. Goodness all the way to the core is the kind of fruit God wants. Soundness of heart, purity of mind and integrity of character are essential if one's fruit is to please God. No one gathers grapes from thorns, or figs from thistles. Read the Sermon on the Mount; Meditate on I Corinthians; Hear what He says in Romans 8 and 12. Here one will find soil where good trees may grow and from which good fruit may be gathered.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— forms a combination
for good. Every man, woman and child needs
the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us
support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.
